CHAPTER ONE

Prayer for Breakthrough

*"I will make a way in the wilderness,
and rivers in the desert." — Isaiah 43:19*

Welcome

Hello, and welcome.

I am so glad you are here. Before you read another word, take a breath and invite God into this moment with you. This chapter is not just something to read — it is a place to meet Him.

Wherever you are standing today — in a wilderness, at a wall, in a long season of waiting — know this: God is about to do a new thing. Come with an open heart. Let Him speak. Your breakthrough begins the moment you believe.

With love and faith,

Lolo

Key Scripture

"Behold, I will do a new thing; now it shall spring forth; shall ye not know it? I will even make a way in the wilderness, and rivers in the desert."

Isaiah 43:19

Short explanation: God is announcing something brand new — and He is doing it in the very place that looks dead and dry. The wilderness is not your ending; it is the address where God builds roads and pours rivers.

Why this scripture matters: When you cannot see a way, this verse reminds you that God is a way-maker by nature. Your breakthrough is not dependent on your circumstances — it is anchored in His promise to make a way.

Chapter Story — My Testimony

There was a season in my life when I prayed prayers that seemed to echo into silence. Doors closed, relationships changed, my health was challenged, and many days I wondered if breakthrough would ever come.

Yet, looking back, I can now see that God was never absent. He was preparing me. Every delay became a lesson in trust. Every tear watered seeds I could not yet see. Every obstacle taught me to depend on Him more deeply than I ever had before.

I have learned that breakthrough is not only about God changing our circumstances — it is about God changing us while we wait. Some of my greatest miracles did not begin with an open door. They began with a surrendered heart.

This chapter is more than a message; it is an invitation. If you are standing before what feels like an impossible situation, know this: God still makes rivers in deserts. He still opens doors no one can shut. He still brings beauty from brokenness.

My prayer is that as you read these pages, your faith will rise, your hope will be renewed, and you will discover that the breakthrough you have been praying for may already be unfolding in ways you cannot yet see.

The full story of how God led me through seasons of loss, restoration, healing, and purpose will be shared in my complete Walk On Water testimony book. For now, I pray this reflection reminds you that the same God who has been faithful to me will also be faithful to you.

With love and faith,

Reflection

- What is God saying to me?

- What fear do I need to release?

- What promise do I need to believe?

- What step of faith am I being asked to take?

Prayer

Father, I come before You pressing through in faith. Every wall that has stood between me and my purpose — I declare it is coming down. Every delay that felt like denial, I receive now as divine timing. You parted the Red Sea. You opened prison doors for Paul and Silas. You are the God of impossible breakthroughs. I thank You in advance for the one You have already signed in Heaven over my life. Nothing can stop what You have ordained. Lead me into healing, restoration, and unshakable faith. In the mighty name of Jesus, Amen.

Declaration

“I declare I am a breakthrough carrier.”

“I declare I will walk by faith.”

“I declare God is with me.”

“I declare my storm is not my destination.”

“I declare every closed door is opening before me now.”

“I declare my testimony will glorify God.”

Action Steps

- Read Isaiah 43:19 out loud every morning this week.
- Pray for one person facing their own wall.
- Journal one breakthrough you are believing God for.
- Worship for 15 minutes with open hands.
- Take one bold step of faith this week — however small.
